

Greenland Crossing from South to North 2016

Greenland offers a fantastic opportunity for kite expedition with the long distance and stable winds we plan to take advantage of these traveling from Narsaq in the South to Qaanaq in the North a distance of 2400km, The expedition has been complete by a number of teams and at different speeds.

We aim to start at sea level in the South of Greenland and Finish at sea level in the North of Greenland, this means the start of the expedition will be physical challenging to move all the gear up the glacier, and this could take a few trips back and fourth. For the Finnish the same could apply as we need to make our own way down some challenging terrain to reach the sea again.

Expedition details:

Start date: May 2015 (To be set but some time in the first week of May)

End date: mid to late June depending on the speed of travel

Programmed days: 50 (The Expedition will carry 45 days and aim to finish some where between 32 - 38 days

Price: 195,000 NOK

* We reserve the right to revise our prices in the event of significant changes in the price of aviation kerosene and aircraft charter rates

What's Included

Flights round trip from Copenhagen, Fix date outbound - flexible date return

3 Nights sleeping bag accommodation in Narsaq

2 Nights sleeping bag accommodation in Qaanaaq

Travel to and from the ice-cap by boat or dog team (Note: this does not include any Heli transfers to and from the ice-cap)

All group expedition equipment

45 days expedition food and fuel

All permits licenses

Guide Fees and expense

Expedition insurance (Note but not personal travel insurance)

4 days team meeting - Training in Haugastøl Norway (But not travel to and from)

Bond for expedition of 200.00DKK

Whats not Included

Commercial flights to and from Copenhagen

Expenses incurred due to delays

Personal equipment and clothing (e.g. kites and ski)

Cost for the use of satellite phone

Any excess baggage costs over confirmed baggage allowance